ALTICE ANNOUNCES NEW GLOBAL STRATEGY: ONE GROUP, ONE BRAND

Altice unveils new global identity

Altice commercial brand to be implemented in all countries by end of Q2 2018

Altice NV (Euronext: ATC, ATCB) today announces a new unified global strategy, representing a new step in the Group's evolution to strengthen its industrial and operational platform. This follows Altice's transformation into a leading transatlantic telecoms, content and advertising company serving more than 50 million customers around the world.

To epitomize this evolution, Altice announces today its new global and multi-local branding strategy: The transformation from a holding company with a collection of different assets and brands around the world, to the establishment of one unified global group with one single brand – Altice – that reflects the international and digital nature of its business while reinforcing Altice's multi-local knowledge and experiences.

Following 15 years of innovations, acquisitions and growth based on the vision of one entrepreneur – Patrick Drahi – this step unites and strengthens Altice's businesses, which share one telecoms-content-advertising strategy, one execution model, and one common mission.

Altice Global Brand Creation and Details

To support the transition to one unified brand, Altice has worked with Publicis Groupe and the U.S. operations of design agency Turner Duckworth to create a new brand campaign inclusive of a new identity and new logo. The pillars of the new brand identity embody Altice's global and local dimensions in telecoms, content and advertising.

The New Altice Identity & Logo: The Path

The logo is a path; it is open and free of any borders or background, intended to represent Altice's timeless aspirations to continuously innovate and reinvent the future to meet customers' evolving needs. It reinforces the strength of the Altice brand, and the path which Altice and its customers take together to experience the future.
