Alexandre Marque, lawyer and co-founder of Franklin law firm (Paris) which was awarded French Law Firm of the Year at The Lawyer European Awards in 2014, has advised Altice since 2004 on almost all its acquisitions and restructurings in France and abroad, and on the IPOs of Altice and Numericable. He was in particular the counsel of the group for the acquisition in 2014 and 2015 of SFR, Orange Dominica, Portugal Telecom and Suddenlink.

Alexandre Marque brings with him three decades of experience from his work with French and international corporations, funds and institutions on M&A, private equity deals and French privatizations. He has in-depth experience in securities law and stock exchange regulations. Having started his professional career in New York with the First Boston Bank followed by the Chase Manhattan Bank, Alexandre Marque moved to private practice at a global firm in Paris before founding Franklin.
