August 31, 2015 - Altice Group (Euronext: ATC - ATCB) today announced the appointment of Michel Combes as both Chief Operating Officer (COO) of the Group and as Chairman of the Board of Numericable-SFR.

Patrick Drahi, President of Altice, said : « I am very pleased that Michel, whom I have known for over 20 years, has decided to join us to help structure the Group's operations and to harmonize our best practices throughout our subsidiaries and countries. He will bring a solid experience both in mobile and fixed operations and is a talented and appreciated manager. The Group will continue to attract key talent to help manage our rapid expansion in both Europe and the Americas whilst maintaining our unique entrepreneurial mindset. »

Dexter Goei, Altice CEO, said: « We are extremely pleased with the arrival of Michel Combes, one of the most experienced and knowledgeable executives in the Global Telecom industry. His deep experience in the international telecom sector will help significantly reinforce our ability to successfully operate and integrate all of our affiliates and to continue to grow our footprint in new territories. »

Michel Combes said: « I'm very proud and happy to be joining Altice and its great entrepreneurship spirit led by Patrick Drahi. Altice's long term strategy and global ambitions are the right challenge for me in this dynamic era of consolidation, convergence and technological disruption. »

Michel Combes was CEO of Alcatel-Lucent, CEO of Vodafone Europe, Chairman and CEO of TDF as well as Chief Financial Officer and Senior Executive Vice President of France Telecom.

Michel Combes has more than 25 years of experiences in the telecommunication industry.

He is 53 and he is a graduate of the Ecole Polytechnique and the Paris Telecoms School.
